

MOZAMBIQUE CLAIMS to have captured a South African military intelligence officer who intended to assassinate President Samora Machel. The South African - apparently called Pieter Benjamin Schoeman - was recently shown on Mozambique television and confessed to planning to kill the President during the fourth Congress of Frelimo, as well as to collecting information about the Cabora Bassa dam and the Post and Telecommunications office. The South African Defence Force denies possessing any record of Schoeman. ■

---

New African June 1983