

Mozambican minister leaves for trade talks in South Africa Before leaving Maputo for Cape Town, where he would attend a meeting of the joint Mozambican-South African commission for economic affairs, Mozambican Labour Minister Anguiar Mazula said that by engaging in economic relations with South Africa, his country was showing the world that the Mozambican people support peace, Maputo radio reported on 18th February. At the meeting the commission would discuss ways to benefit both countries in the fields of transport, labour and small industries, the radio said. 1989
