PRETORIA-BASED Habega Trading International has secured a R200 000 contract from Petromark, Mozambique's largest petroleum company.

Managing director Mr Corrie Lamprecht said the computers and printers to be installed at Petromark's offices in Beira and Maputo were to be used for the company's overall financial administration, including general ledger, stock control debtors and creditors.

Mr Lamprecht said the contract was "one of a number of Mozambican contracts in the pipeline".

He said it had been conducted via Original Technology Mozambique, Habenga Trading International's official distributor there.
