SA 'supporting'

Renamo rebels

CAPE TOWN—Supplies, including military equipment, were still going to Renamo in Mozambique from South Africa, the ANC's international affairs spokesman, Mr Thabo Mbeki, said last night.

Although the Government had stated that no further assistance was going to Renamo from it or from Government agencies, supplies were "clearly" still going to Renamo from South Africa.

Mr Mbeki told a meeting at Stellenbosch University that the Government would have to ensure that this support to Renamo was ended if there was to be peace.
