

Craig Williamson

South Africa-Mozambique

According to Southscan newsletter published in London, citing a former comrade of Craig Williamson when he belonged to the South African intelligence services, he has been working for some time, as political adviser to the Mozambican President Joaquim Chissano. A former colonel in the National Intelligence Services (NIS), Craig Williamson played an important role in relations between South Africa and the current regime in the Seychelles. When he retired, he was apparently associated with the Italian businessman Giovanni Mario Ricci, the "father" of the Seychelles tax haven, who is today living in South Africa.