MAPUTO.

MOZAMBICAN armed forces killed 30 MNR bandits in the first two weeks of November in Muanza, Marrromeu and Gorongosa districts on Sofala province according to the Sunday paper Domingo.

A newly established bandit camp near Gorongosa mountain was destroyed in November, reports the Beira paper "Diario de Mocambique". The camp consisted of 24 huts, and had been in existence for little more than a month when Mozambican troops captured it. Mozambican units were led to the camp by a 15-year-old peasant boy named Domingos Machissue.
