

Mozambican police reportedly claim bomb car came from South Africa (ME/8244/B/6 - Text) Lisbon, 29th April: A car which exploded in the Mozambican capital, Maputo, last Monday [21st April] injuring 50 people, had earlier been driven from neighbouring South Africa with explosives hidden in its engine, the Portuguese news agency said Monday [28th April] quoting Mozambican police sources. Its Mozambican driver, who is being questioned by police, had been told by the owner of the Citroen car, a South African citizen, to take it to Maputo and it had crossed the border at Namaacha the previous day, the sources said. The car only appeared to be carrying food supplies and did not arouse the suspicion of customs officers, the agency said. (AFP in English 0321 gmt 29 Apr 86)
