

Mozambique: Red Cross workers released (ME/0416 ii - Tea) The four Red Cross workers abducted during the armed bandit raid on Nampula province's Memba district on 16th March were released today [31st March]. AIM learned this from an International Committee of the Red Cross [ICRC] source today. ICRC spokesman in Maputo Martin Alman [phonetic] said the four were released in an unspecified place in Nampula this morning. The four workers were handed over to Sophie Martin, ICRC representative in Mozambique. The four were: Swiss doctor Claude Felix; Frieda Wederborgen [phonetic], a West German woman; Lizlotte Bosman [phonetic], a Dutch nurse; and Januario Mpapua, a Mozambican Red Cross worker.
