MNR bandits attacked a truck in Mozambique's Sofala Province on Sunday, killing 12 people and wounding 18 others, Radio Mozambique reported on Thursday.

The bandits made the attack at about 11.00 local time on Sunday. The truck, which belongs to Mozambique's relief body, the Disasters Control Office, was returning to Beira from Gorongosa town.

Seven days ago, a group of bandits attacked the area of Inhamussua in Inhambane province, killing at least 20 people.
