[Text] Mozambique and the GDR began talks in Maputo today to assess current and future actions in the field of justice.

Our country's justice minister, Ossumane Ali Dauto, spoke at the opening of the talks, expressing satisfaction with the work carried out on justice since the 1981 cooperation agreement between the two countries' justice ministries was signed.

Among other things, the agreement provided for the exchange of delegations and technical assistance on justice.

The GDR delegation to the talks is led by, Siegfried Wittenbeck, deputy justice minister. The delegation arrived in Maputo yesterday for a working and friendly visit to Mozambique at the invitation of our country's judicial authorities.
