

Mozambican officer cadets to train in Portugal (ME/7371/B/1: excerpts) The leader of a Portuguese military delegation visiting Mozambique has said Portugal is ready to accept Mozambican cadets for an officers' training course. Major (?Pinto Soares), who was speaking in an interview in Maputo, said the establishment of military co-operation between Mozambique and Portugal was a victory. He recalled that only eight years ago Mozambican and Portuguese soldiers were fighting each other, but today the two armies were building a new relationship. . . Portugal expected that the next stage in the military co-operation would be the arrival of cadets in Portugal for training as officers. Maj (?Soares) and his two colleagues, who have completed their mission in Mozambique, are due to return to Portugal today. (Maputo in English for southern Africa 1100 gmt 28 Jun 83)
