

S Africa-Mozambique relations: Incomati and ANC (ME/8319/ii) South African Deputy Foreign Minister Ron Miller has said that the Incomati accord with Mozambique was continuing to operate and that the South African government remained committed to the terms of the agreement, according to the South African agency on 25th August. He said that despite the fact that "the Mozambican President, Samora Machel, had unilaterally discontinued the workings of the joint security commission, discussions between the two countries were on-going". He added that "the presence of the African National Congress in Maputo was a matter of concern and under the constant attention both governments". Johannesburg radio reported on 25th August that Miller intended raising the question of the ANC presence at the next round of talks with Mozambique; the last contacts had been about two months ago. -1986
