GIRLS LURED INTO 'SEX TRAP'

By Times Reporter
PORTUGAL, Rhodesia and South Africa are recruiting coloured and light-skinned girls from Rhodesia for vice dens in Mozambique.

This claim appeared in the latest issue of Zimbabwe Review, the official organ of Zapu.

Already about 30 coloured and light-skinned African girls have been flown from Salisbury to Lorenzo Marques and Beira where they work in night clubs for mercenaries, drug addicts and sex maniacs, the publication says.

One coloured girl, who escaped and hitch-hiked to Salisbury revealed the cabaret "camouflage" and said when she arrived in Mozambique, she was told her job would be to have sex with customers, at a salary of K300 a month.
